1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Law et al, newly cited. Law et al discloses a plurality of discharging openings 56a-56d through which air is discharged outside of the passenger compartment of the vehicle.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Law et al. Law et al discloses the claimed invention except for the type of vent openings. The type of discharging openings used is a matter of obvious choice, as micro air vent holes per se are well known, and to provide micro air vent holes in Law et al would be an obvious expedient to one of ordinary skill in the art.

6. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Law et al in view of Ziegenfelder, newly cited. Law et al discloses the claimed invention except for the non-return valve. Ziegenfelder teaches a ventilation system for a vehicle in which non-return valves 68 are used. It would be obvious to provide Law et al with non-return valves in the discharging openings, in view of Ziegenfelder, for the purpose of preventing outside air from drawing into the passenger compartment through the discharging openings.

7. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Law et al in view of Ferng, newly cited. Law et al discloses the claimed invention except for the plurality of blowers. Ferng teaches a ventilation system for a vehicle in which a plurality of blowers are provided for the discharging openings. It would be obvious to provide Law with a plurality of blowers for the discharging openings, in view of Ferng, for the purpose of positively discharging the air from the passenger compartment.

8. Claim 6 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5, 7, and 8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
